BOSTON WEAKENS ON WARD.

Director Billings Says the Washington Club Will Surely Secure Him. The Boston triumvars have given up the truggle to obtain possession of Ward, says a Boston special, and are easting about for a shortstop who can keep pace with the remaining championship trotters in the team. Director Conant was found yester-day on Columbus avenue, within sight of the airy towers of the grand-stand that cost such a fabulous amount, and that has been such a good "ad." for the Boston Club. He seemed to be calculating how much jur-chase money could be appropriated without injuring the financial success of the coming season.

"Mr. Conant, do you share the confident feeling of your partner, Mr. Billings, that the Boston Club will be able to secure the great shortstop, John Ward?" asked the

great shortstop, John Ward?" asked the reporter.

"No," was the answer. "I do not. I do not believe for an uistant that John B. Day's goling to allow Ward to play in Boston. He thinks that we are strong enough already. He does not want to give us a team hat would be practically invincible, as we would be if we signed Ward. I do not think that there would be the least difficulty in our winning the pennant if we go. Ward." Of course I would like to see Ward play in Boston for many reasons, but I am afraid that it will be no go.

The only loophole I can see is that New York would take Wise and let us have Ward, we to pay a bonus in addition; but I do not think that Day would care to consent to ever this. I believe that he would prefer to put Hatfield would care to consent to ever this. I believe that he would prefer to put Hatfield at short and be a little weaker himself than allow us to have such a player as Ward."

"Mr. Billings does not think that the Washington Cirab will pay such an amount as $12,000 for Ward. How do you regard the matter?"

"While I don't believe the ventute will be one that will be at all profitable for the Washington management, believe that they want. Ward bardly enough to pay the amount that has been agreed for him. He is a great player, but I don't think that he is worth any such figure. We would not pay any $12,000 for him."

Mr. Liscomb's Walk to Washington. Alfred A. Liscomb of New York, who was expected to start on foot for this city this morning, to pay an election bet, is 56 years old and weighs 145 pounds. He bet with George T. Griffith, a Philadelphia banker. He says: "With Mr. Griffith I made three bets. The one on the election of Mayor Grant I won, and Mr. Griffith Walked from Philadelphia to New York. Instead of walking from New York to Albany, Mr. Griffith forfeited to me $1,000 on Governor Hill's election. If I fail to walk to Washington I shall forfeit $1,000, but I don't think I shall fail. I have been tradular for this walk for some time. Lead to don't think I shall full. I have been training for this walk for some time. I shall try and make Trenton the first day. The distance is about fifty miles, and I can easily cover it. I have got twenty-four hours in each day to do the walk in, and I shall do the heaviest part of the walk in the first three or four days." Mr. Liscomb will be accompanied by a trainer, and it is in tended that Mr. Griffith shall go along in a

A New Church Opened. The beautiful new Church of the Covenant was opened yesterday, a large congregation attending the services for the first time in their $200,000 place of worship. The pastor, Rev. Dr. Hamlin, took for his text "Building and Builders," and preached an eloquent sermon. After the discourse Mr. Gardiner G. Hubbard, a member of the board of trustees, made a statement about the indebtedness of the churbh, which, he the indebtedness of the churbh, which, he said, was $20,000. Subscriptions were then taken up, nearly $25,000 being raised. Among the subscribers were Mrs. Reed, $1,000; Mrs. Munn and Mrs. Gurley, through Mr. Fitch, $1,000; James E. Gurley, attended Bethany Chapel, a mis-sion of the New York Avenue Church, on Friday evening, to assist in giving the Sun-day-school children an entertainment. When they started to return Miss Gurley was apparently in excellent health, but on reaching Thirfeenth and D streets she com-plained of feeling strangely, and almost immediately fell in the arms of one of her friends. She was taken to her home, 909 Thirteenth street, and a physician was sum-Triends. She was taren to her home, says Inauguration Festivities There will no doubt be a hundred thouand visitors to our beautiful city on the 4th of March to witness the Inauguration which takes place every four years. The reviewing-stands on our splendid Avenue will soon be completed, and if the weather could be guaranteed nothing would be lacking to make this 4th one that will never be forgotten, but handed down to posterity. For the benefit of strangers and others we would state, should they need any stimulation that occasion—on a before—we lants on that occasion-on or before-we would recommend them to James Tharp's old-established house, at $18 F street northwest. His old rye Berkeley whiskies, pure vintage and fragrant cigars cannot be excelled in the National Capital.

The Split in the Methodist Church. "The Open Door" was the text of the sermon of Rev. S. W. Haddaway before the Southern Methodist Church. He said that Southern Methodist Church. It is and that slavery was not the cause of separation of the Methodist Church in 1884. The cause was found in the claim by the majority to meddle with subjects that the 'minority thought belonged to the body politic. The fact is seen in the unprecedented success of this church since the war, and considering the frightful demoralization and devasta-tion caused by the war the increase in numerical strength is unprecedented. St. John's College Alumni. Graduates of St. John's College have or ganized an alumnt seciety by the election of the following officers: President, William H. In accordance with the terms of an election bet with Andy P. Gilbert, a Harrison and Morton flag fluttered briskly from Michael McGowan's Democratic flag-pole in Georgetown vesterday. But it doesn't Michael McGowan's Democratic flag-pole in Georgetown yesterday. But it doesn't flutter there to-day. Under the cover of last night's darkness somebody, evidently of Democratic proclivities, took the gandy rag from its lofty place and after dragging it around through the street put it under Mr. McGowan's doorstep. It is not known he took the flag down.

Renovating the Seward Mansion. Mr. William Masters Camae, the Philadelphia architect, who has charge of reno vating and rebuilding the old Seward Mansion for Mr. Hlaine, says it will take over $10,000 to make it a habitable domicite, as it has undergone much rough usage, according to the Philadelphia Press. Prospects of the French Royalists. It would be considered a little short of eresy.in some quarters to dishelfere M. Blowitz, the Paris correspondent of the ondon Times, but there is a shrewd supicion increasing even in England that he is but mortal, and may form wrong judgis but mortal, and may form wrong judgments, or even be imposed upon like an ordinary individual. M. Blowitz save he was confidentially informed that if Brolanger was defeated and M. Jacques returned in his stead, the decree by which the Duke d'Aumale was exiled would be annulled and that nobleman recalled to France, which would be an opening wedge, of course, for the reinstatement of his still more dangerous relatives and a gradual relapse toward koyalism. The Royalists are certainly showing head, although they have exhibited some signs of impatience at seeing no definite results following the triumph of Boulanger.

The Rise of the Seine.

The New York Herald's Paris special

The New York Herald's Paris special says: "The Seine continues to rise. The Qual d'Auteuil is entirely submerged and the inhabitants of the houses along the quay are forced to go out and come home in boats. The communes of Creteil and Alfortville are in imminent danger of being flooded. The Seine flows through the Rue du Maine, and further down the river the commune of Petit Gennevilliers is surrounded by water, forming an island that can only be reached in boats."

Cold Weather Keeps Them Home. The report that a large band of Sioux has left Standing Rock Agency with its war paint on en route to the Big Missouri River. has no foundation. Agent McLaughlin says not a single Indian under his charge had left, nor would the reds be likely to warder far from the agency so long as the present cold weather continues.
